THE SUN FOR 1879.

The Sun will be printed every day during the year to come. Its purpose and method will be the same as in the past: To present all the news in a readable shape, and to tell the truth though the heavens fall.

The Sun has been, is, and will continue to be independent of everybody and everything save the Truth and its own convictions of duty. That is the only policy which an honest newspaper need have. That is the policy which has won for this newspaper the confidence and friendship of a wider constituency than was everenjoyed by any other American journal.

The Sun is the newspaper for the people. It is not for the rich man against the poor man, or for the poor man against the rich man, but it seeks to do equal justice to all interests in the community. There need be no mystery about its loves and hates. It is for the honest man against the fogues every time. It is for the honest man against the fogues every time. It is for the honest man against the honest Republican as against the dishonest republican and for the honest Republican as against the dishonest permornal. It does not take its one from the atterances of any politician or political organization. It gives its support unreservedly when men and measures are in agreement with the Constitution and with the principles upon which the Republic was founded for the people. Whenever the Constitution and constitutional principles are violated—as in the outrag ous conspiracy of 1876, by which a man not elected was placed in the President's office, where he still remains—it speaks out for the right. That is Tire Sun's idea of independence. In this respect there will be no change in its programme for 1879.

The Sun has fairly earned the hearty hatred of ms als, frauds, and humbigs of all sorts and sizes. It hopes to deserve that hatred not less in the year 1879, than in 1878, 1877, or any year gone by. The Sun will continue to shine on the wicked

With unmitigated brightness.

While the lessons of the past should be constantly kept before the people, This Sun does not propose to make itself in 1879 a magazine of ancient history. It is printed for the men and women of to-day, whose concern is chiefly with the affairs of to-day. It has both the disposition and the ability to afford its readers the promptest, fullest, and most accurate intelligence of whatever in the wide world is worth attention. To this end the resources belonging to well-established prosperity will be liberally employed.

most accurate intelligence of whatever in the wide world is worth attention. To this end the resources belonging to well-established prosperity will be liberally employed.

The pr s nt disjoisted condition of parties in this country, and the uncertainty of the future, lend an extraordinary significance to Lee events of the coming year. The discussions of the press, the debates and acts of Congress, and the movements of the leaders in every section of the Republic will have a direct bearing on the Presidential election of 1830—an event which must be regarded with the most auxious interest by every patriotic American, whatever his political ideas or allegiance. To these elements of interest may be added the probability that the Democrats will control both houses of Congress, the increasing feebleness of the fraudulent Administration, and the press of the fraudulent administration, and the securacy and clearness the exact situation in each of its varying phases, and to expound, according to its well-known methods, the principles that should guide us through the labyrinth, will be an important part of The Sun's work for 1879.

We have the means of making The Sun, as a political, a literary and a general newspaper, more intertaining and more useful that ever before; and we mean to apply them freely.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Datly Sus, a four-page sheet of twenty-gight columns, the price by mail, postpaid, is 55 tents a month, or $6.0 a year, or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 60 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, 2fty-six columns, is $1.4 year, postage paid.
